DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 5-9 and 11-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (discussed in the Background of Invention) in view of Pierre Brisson (France Patent 2,627,880).

The Applicant's APA discloses the structure of the MMC card is a conventional standard memory card.

The Applicant's APA does not disclose one card has two functions of MMC and SD by providing a two contact groups.

Pierre Brisson teaches a card (10) has multiple contact groups (A1, A2, A3, A4) to implement different functions.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to addition contact group into the MMC card of the Applicant's APA, as taught by Pierre Brisson to implement different function.

Such a combination of familiar elements according to known methods is likely to be obvious when it does no more than yield predictable results. See, e.g., United States v. Adams 383 U.S. 39, 50-52, 86 S. Ct. 708, 15 L.Ed.2d 572. When a work is available in one field, design incentives and other market forces can prompt variations of it, either in the same field or in another.

If a person of ordinary skill in the art can implement a predictable variation, and would see the benefit of doing so, 103 likely bars its patentability. Moreover, if a technique has been used to improve one device, and a person of ordinary skill in the art would recognize that it would improve similar devices in the same way, using the technique is obvious unless its actual application is beyond that person's skill. A court must ask whether the improvement is more than the predictable use of prior-art elements according to their established functions. KSRInt'l, 127 S. Ct. 1727, 1731 (2007).

Providing multiple contact groups into one card to have different functions yields no unpredictable results, and indeed is no more than the predictable use of prior-art elements according to their established functions, as shown by the references.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 5-9 and 11-14, filed on 1/22/08, have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
